

P2 Newsletter

Since our last newsletter we have explored 2 different topics:

- Harvest
- The Owl Who Was Afraid of The Dark.

As part of our harvest topic we found out about where food comes from and spoke about which foods are healthy and unhealthy.

We had a fruit tasting activity one afternoon which we really enjoyed! Lots of us tried a fruit we had not had before and found some new favourites.

We shared lots of our learning from our harvest topic at our p2 assembly. We had great fun doing this assembly and were really please so many people were able to come along and enjoy it with us. Thank you!

We have been enjoying reading The Owl Who Was Afraid of The Dark. We have also been able to learn and do lots of different things alongside reading the book.

We have learnt all about barn owls, including what they eat, their habitat and about their lifecycle. We also found out about other nocturnal animals.

We explored night and day and discovered why it gets dark. We have also enjoyed doing some drama workshops about night and day.

Mrs Pringle and Camembear have been working with the class once a week to teach them French. Some of the learning includes learning how to say basic greetings, the names of different colours and how to talk about the weather.

P2 have been very lucky this term to have the chance to work with football coaches. We have developed lots of skills and had lots of fun in the process.

What next?

- Our topic after Christmas is going to be Katie Morag and The Two Grandmothers. Through this topic we will be learning all about Scotland and its landscape. We will also do some work on comparing our lives to those of our Grandparents.
- In maths and numeracy we will be looking at money and multiplication . We will also be continuing to explore numbers to 100.
- In literacy we will be exploring letter writing and imaginative story writing.

I hope all of p2 and their families have a lovely Christmas holiday. I look forward to hearing all about them when we return in January.

 Merry Christmas
